

Classroom phones enhance RCC's Alert emergency message system

RCC has enhanced its emergency message system by installing special, emergency-message-compatible VOIP phones in all classrooms. The phones are ADA compliant and designed for emergency situations. Their primary function is to establish reliable communications in the time of crisis through voice broadcast.

Classroom Phone Functionality:

- The phone's two soft buttons are programmed for 911 and the security number for the campus where the phone is located
- The phone may also be used to dial internal extensions on any of RCC's three campuses only.
- It is not possible to dial out to off-campus locations.
- Incoming calls from off-campus can be received; however, it's not the intended use of the phones.
